Southern Illinois Audubon Society

P.O. Box 222 Carbondale, Illinois 62903-0222

The Southern Illinois Audubon Society was established in 1970 by local environmentalists who came together to protest plans to dam Lusk Creek. Today our primary emphasis is on the study, observation and protection of birds. We continue to support programs that promote biodiversity and the conservation of land.

Benefits of your membership include:

- ◆ 9 newsletters per year in hard or digital copy (or both)
- ◆ 8 monthly programs and an annual Spring picnic
- ◆ outings to some of the most beautiful places in Southern Illinois

Please complete the information below and mail with a check payable to SIAS to the PO Box 222 above.
